

AMUSEMENTS.

TWAIN AND CABLE.

The well known authors Mark Twain and George W. Cable will give the unique entertainment with which they have been drawing phenomenal houses in the larger cities of the East and Middle States, at Philharmonic hall on Monday evening the 26th inst. At St. Louis a few days ago the receipts from two of these entertainments are said to have aggregated $2,900. Each author will read selections from his own writings—Mr. Cable from "Dr. Sevier," and Mark Twain from the advance sheets of his new book, "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." To their ability as authors both these gentlemen are said to add the interpretative gift of the reader and dialectician.
